Hubble Shows We're Just One 'Chevy of a Galaxy'

Terry and Tina Thorsen (7181) of Everett, WA forwarded this piece by journalist Mark Ward of the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel.

"In the 1920's, astromomers discovered that fuzzy smudges they spotted beyond the stars were not clouds of gas, but separate galaxies, each containing billions of stars. Still, their initial measurements suggested that among galaxies, the Milky Way was unusually large.

Based on new measurements, three astronomers declared that the Milky Way is not especially big. In fact, the average size for spiral galaxies appears to be slightly bigger than the diameter of the Milky Way.

As astronomer Jay Gallagher of the University of Wisconsin-Madison put it: 'It looks like we're kind of a Chevy of a galaxy.'"

Young Girl and Family Face Bone Marrow Disease

Katelyn Rose Hubbell turned four years old on June 26th 1997, and had a big party at her home in Fisher, Illinois. The daughter of 12575 David Andrew and Mary Louise McRoy Hubbell, she was a happy, healthy little girl, until July 11, 1997 when she was diagnosed with a life-threatening bone marrow failure disease called Aplastic Anemia.

Bone marrow, the soft spongy material inside your bones, is home to stem cells. Stem Cells are the little factories that produce the three types of blood cells that, along with plasma, make up your blood. In people with Aplastic Anemia, the stem cells are damaged and unable to produce enough blood cells to keep the patient alive.

People with Aplastic Anemia are always at risk for serious infections because they don't have enough white cells to fight them. They are also prone to fatigue, and life-threatening episodes of bleeding because their stem cells don't make enough platelets that help the blood to clot. Many Aplastic Anemia patients are dependent upon transfusions of donor blood and platelets to keep them alive. Currently, Katelyn is being kept alive by generous blood and platelet donors from all over Central Illinois. Her case is being managed by doctors at Carle Foundation Hospital in Urbana, Illinois and at The Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago.

The first line treatment for children with AA is a bone marrow transplant from a related donor, so just a few days after her diagnosis, her whole family was tested to see if anyone was a suitable donor. After 10 heart-wrenching days of waiting, they were crushed to receive the news that Katy's brother, Seth James, and sister, Sarah Christine, matched each other perfectly, but didn't match Katy, nor did her mom or dad.

Katy was given the second line of treatment for Aplastic Anemia, called ATG therapy. It is an immunosuppressive regimen that has been successful at inducing remission in about 85% of cases. However, further complications arose. In October 1997, Katy developed a very rare side effect of her ATG therapy, a reactive cancer called Lymphoproliferative Disease. Her therapy needed to be stopped right away to give her immune system enough time to eradicate the cancer. Luckily, the cancer went in to remission on it's own, but the options for treating her Aplastic Anemia have been limited.

On June 17th of 1998, Katy began a new treatment for AA called High-Dose Cytoxan therapy. Cytoxan (a.k.a. cyclophosphamide) is a chemotherapy often used in treating cancer patients, but it has had some success as a treatment for AA. Katy is currently transfusion dependent, a result of her Cytoxan therapy. To date, she has received 59 units of platelets and 26 units of packed red blood cells.

Please keep Katy in your prayers during this difficult time. Those wishing to make a contribution may do so in care of:

Scout Leads Drive to Complete Nature Path

Senior citizens at the Bridgewater Senior Center in Bridgewater, Massachusetts, extended their gratitude recently to David Allan Hubble (14793), an Eagle Scout candidate who coordinated the effort to complete a nature path that was originally planned for the center six years ago.

In addition to helping out along with other members of this troop at fund-raising dinners to raise money for the completion of the project, David headed up a group of volunteers the 160+ hour task of clearing and marking the walking trail in the wooded area adjacent to the center and Bridgewater Elementary School.

Assisting David in his efforts were his mother, Christine, and father, Dennis Allan Hubble (13659), who laid in stair risers and constructed three benches along with his own father, Fred F. Hubble, Jr. (11431).

Benefits of the nature path are numerous. It will encourage inter-generational interaction between the seniors and the schoolchildren as they help educate the youngsters about nature. Already, the clearing of the underbrush has spurred the emergence of Lady Slippers, which are an endangered plant species.

On a historical side note, the town of Bridgewater was founded in 1632 by John Alden of the Plymouth Colony, which is also its neighbor.

Reprint of 1980 History & Genealogy with Enlarged Index Makes a Great Gift

Publications Committee Chair Clifton H. Hubbell (7339) has announced that the 1998 reprint of the 1980 History and Genealogy of the Hubbell Family with a new, enlarged index is now available from stock in Springfield, MO. The new reprint has 126 more pages than the 1986 reprint of the 1980 book. The book can be ordered from the Society for $70.00 US or $98.00 Canadian.

The new index can also be purchased as a separate volume, so that those who have the original book or the 1986 reprint can make these books more useful by acquiring the new index. This index shows birth dates and is fully alphabetized, making it easier to identify the more than 500 Mary Hubbells and the thousands of other family members mentioned in the History. The separate index sells for $25.00 US or $35.00 Canadian and is also available from stock.

Kudos to HFHS Genealogist Hilbert R. Hubble (9750) for undertaking the daunting task of compiling this new index!

Family Members Gather in Mantorville for Plaque Dedication

A group of 28 Hubbell Family members as well as local dignitaries attended the dedication of a commemorative plaque at the Hubbell House in Mantorville, MN on Saturday, August 22, 1998.

The bronze plaque honors John B. Hubbell, founder of the Hubbell House. Built in 1856 of limestone to replace the original log building erected in 1854, the Hubbell House served as a hotel and rooming house. In 1946, the Pappas family renovated the structure, converting it into a restaurant that maintained its elegant Civil War era atmosphere. The Hubbell Family Historical Society was founded at the Hubbell House on September 15th, 1981.

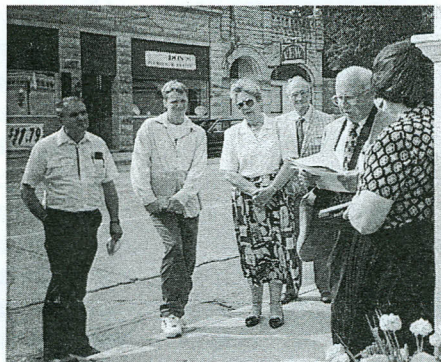

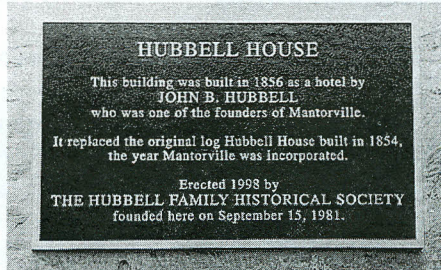

Following welcoming and opening remarks by Nancy Hubbell Bunnett, committee chair of the event, the dedication ceremony began with the introduction of local officials by Don Pappas, owner of the Hubbell House. In attendance were Mayor Jeff Kracht and his wife Barbara, city council members Dick Leonard and Terry Sell, and Randy Carlson, publisher of the Dodge County Independent.

Clifton H. Hubbell (7339), past president of HFHS, continued with recognition of society members by reading the names of attendees at the 1981 founding of the Society. He also presented letters from those unable to attend the dedication: Harold B. Hubbell, co-founder of HFHS, Ernest Hubbell, first HFHS president, John G. Hubbell, who attended the 1981 meeting, and James W. Hubbell, Jr., the treasurer of Hubbell Center in Des Moines, IA.

The story of John B. Hubbell and the Hubbell House was read by committee member Al Bunnett. Presentations of the 1988 reprint of History and Genealogy of the Hubbell Family were made to Don Pappas and the Hubbell House by Donald C. Hubbell, HFHS vice-president, and to Idella M. Conwell of the Dodge County Historical Society by R. Leroy Hubble, a past president of the Society. Final remarks and the dedication of the plaque itself were delivered by HFHS President Harold G. Hubbell.

In addition to the plaque ceremony, tours of other historic properties built in the 1850s and 1860s were conducted by volunteers for the Mantorville Restoration

Rock Church Undergoes Renovation

For some years recently, and certainly over many centuries, the ancient church of SS. Peter & Paul in Rock, Worcestershire, England, has been undergoing important maintenance and repairs. This stone church was where our immigrant ancestor Richard Hubball and his family worshipped.

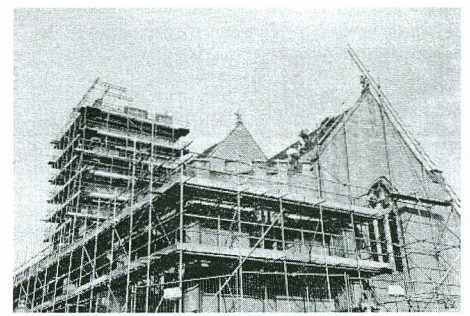

We thought our readers would be interested to see these pictures of the current project of Summer-Autumn 1998: extensive work being done on the church's west tower and the adjacent walls. Barbara Makepeace, Rock resident and HFHS friend, sent these photos to Harold B. Hubbell (12515), Hubbell Center President.

SS. Peter & Paul - View of the west tower

She is especially known to those members who have taken the Society-sponsored trips to England. Barbara is the "sparkplug" of the Friends of Rock Church, the organization overseeing church programming. Religious services and other parish activities are continuing during the period of repairs.

This ancient structure, begun in 1086 A.D., requires constant attention if it is to continue to withstand the effects of age and climate. Fortunately, contributions from local residents of the area, together with some funding from the British government, have enabled such critically important basic jobs to be undertaken. HFHS has also contributed over the years, and members can be proud of sharing in works that began almost a thousand years ago when our ancestors lived in Rock.

Historic Connecticut House to be Refurbished

Family members will be interested to know that an early Connecticut house, now called the "Bradley-Hubbell House" on Black Rock Turnpike in Easton, CT, is presently scheduled for refurbishing. The Historical Society of Easton has been put in charge of raising $200,000 for restoration and purchase of the house from its previous owner, the local water company.

This house was lived in by Franklin Hubbell (9181) of Easton for 70 years, and has been lying vacant since he died late in 1996. He was manager of land resources for the aforementioned water company, and was active in Easton community affairs. Many of us HFHS members have Hubbell or Hubbell-related antecedents who lived in the Easton-Weston communities for 3, 4, or more generations. Weston was settled c.1670, of which Easton was a part until incorporated separately in 1745.

The photographs show a two-story, early Federal-style house, built shortly after the Revolutionary War by David Bradley. Markers on the house set the date of construction about 1790, but some feel an earlier date is likely. The Historical Society of Easton wants to take title to the property, if it raises the necessary funds, to make it both the HSE museum and available for community functions.

There are quite a few old homes in Connecticut, built by Hubbells centuries

The Bradley-Hubbell House
in Easton CT, built c.1790

ago, or which came to Hubbell ownership by marriage. None at all, to our knowledge, are in public hands. All of these homes are likely "related" to a member or members of HFHS. The Bradley-Hubbell house is the nearest thing to such that has come to our attention. Copies of The Connecticut Trust for Historic Preservation's quarterly newsletter, Preservation News, are placed at Hubbell Center; they contain photographs of old Connecticut houses scheduled for demolition. Some of these have family connections, although we have not seen any that are described as originally Hubbell-built.

The Historical Society of Easton solicits funds for purchase of the Bradley-Hubbell house (which are tax-deductible gifts) at P. O. Box 121, Easton, CT 06612.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE CONTINUES! YOUR HELP IS NEEDED

The Membership Committee still needs you help in furthering the Society in its membership goal of "1000 by 2000".

Carol Boggs (11690), the Committee chairperson asks that all members continue to look in their local area phone books, or in one of the state Yellow Pages on the Internet, and call or otherwise contact one other Hubbell or Hubble descendant with another surname, and recruit him or her. If anyone has trouble locating a name or number to call, contact Carol at 919/967-3646 for assistance.

This kind of campaign to gives every Society member a chance to personally participate in reaching our goal, and to concentrate our time and efforts. If every member recruits just one member, we will have met our goal in no time! If you feel that you can call a second person, it would be greatly appreciated. We hope each of you will do your best to move us one Hubbell closer to the goal.

Society. Narrated horse and carriage rides also set out from the Hubbell House.

That evening, guests enjoyed dinner at the Hubbell House that featured wall-eye pike, broiled shrimp, and sirloin steak served with baked potato and salad with Turtle Pie for dessert. After dinner it was off to the theater to see production of an old-fashioned melodrama entitled, "One Bad Apple, or, Rotten to the Core", presented by the Mantorville Theater Company at the Mantorville Opera House. Built in 1918, it is located one block away from the Hubbell House.

The Society extends its thanks to the Hubbell House Dedication Committee, those who attended, and the city of Mantorville for making this event a success.

A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to Springfield...

Reunion Committee members Donald C. and Madalene Hubbell travelled to Springfield in September to finalize plans with Committee Chair Jack Jerome Hubbell for the 1999 Biennial.

While travelling Route 71 in Ohio, they decided on the spur of the moment to stop at a Cracker Barrel restaurant just off the highway for breakfast. And who did they happen to run into there? None other than fellow HFHS members Harvey and Anne Hubbell, who were on their way west to New Mexico to participate in a hot air ballooning festival!

After breakfast, both couples got back on the road, meeting up again at the end of the day near Terre Haute, IN to spend the night at the same motel.

Barnstable Atlas now in Second Edition

Authored by Marjorie Hubbell Gibson (9011) and published by the Falmouth, MA Genealogical Society, the Historical and Genealogical Atlas and Guide to Barnstable County, Massachusetts is now in its second printing.

This book is a compilation of information about each Cape Cod town that would be of interest to genealogists. Each town's entry includes date of incorporation, a brief town history, noteworthy local experiences during wars, names of early families and well-known residents, names of churches and cemeteries, and addresses of town halls.

Additionally, information is listed about libraries, museums, archives, and historical and genealogical societies. Names and addresses of principal historical sites, and a full page map of the town with important locations marked are provided also in this volume.

Internet Brings New-Found Cousins Together

Recently, HFHS Membership Chair Carol Boggs received an e-mail from Anne Hubbell Cooper (HFHS web site administrator) that a new Hubbell contact named Sandra Endress had requested information about the upcoming reunion. Once Carol e-mailed Sandra, she discovered her to be a fairly close cousin, a granddaughter of Floyd Hubbell (5809) of Seymour, CT. and living nearby in Chapel Hill, NC.

Sandra replied that she has a photo album with a picture of Grant Asa Hubbell, among others. He was the one for whom Carol's grandfather, Burton Henry Hubbell, had painted a seascape as a wedding present. Grant was also HFHS member Lorraine Ashland's grandfather.

Sandra and Carol soon made plans to meet and delve into their family connections. They began to feel that they had known each other forever because of so many similarities-- both from CT, both nurses, both affiliated with major university medical centers, and certainly both madly interested in Hubbell family history.

Carol believes her grandfather Burton, and Sandra's grandfather Floyd, and probably Lorraine's grandfather Grant, all knew each other in Seymour. Carol also asks, "Is there anyone else out there who had folks in Seymour, Derby, Oxford, or nearby towns who has pictures to share?"

She hopes to find even more close cousins who could help identify some of the pictures she and Sandra have, and perhaps to find out that their grandfathers had a regular social club in that part of Connecticut!

Stevens Connections

HFHS members with Stevens family antecedents from early Connecticut may be interested to know that member Helen S. Ullman has conducted research on Hubbell Stevens, son of 13 Sarah Hubbell and Deacon Josiah Stevens of Killingworth, CT. Sarah was daughter of our immigrant ancestor, Richard, by his second wife, Elizabeth Gaylord.

Helen's study will soon be placed at Hubbell Center for examination. Her e-mail address is hsu@world.std.com; the regular mailing address is 713 Main Street, Acton, MA 01720-4802.

Quilt Drawing at 1999 Reunion

A drawing for the Hubbell/Hubble Family Quilt will take place at the 9th Biennial Reunion in Springfield, MO, in June 1999. The quilt, made by Betty Transue Morgan (9695) and donated to the Society, was on display at the 1997 Biennial Reunion in Burlington.

Donation tickets may be sent in anytime before then. Ticket holders need not be present at the drawing to win. Donations to the Quilt Fund will be used for special Society projects. Ticket chairman is R. Leroy Hubble (11405).

The quilt has 49 large squares, in colors of coral, gold, brown, and white. Twenty-three squares depict family history and 26 squares feature signatures of family members in attendance at the 7th Biennial in Folsom, CA.
